Seven Employees Receive Cash Awards For Prize-Winning Suggestions

The past few months have shown a decided increase in the number of suggestions submitted by employees for consideration.

The Employee Half of the Industrial Improvement Committee met on Nov. 7 and approved seven employee-submitted suggestions for cash awards.

The Management Half of the Committee, at its meeting on Nov. 8, seconded these recommendations. Several other suggestions are being checked.

Final decisions are sometimes delayed because of necessary investigation but all are processed as speedily as possible. So keep them coming in.

Two Main Plant Employees Retired

Katherine Kerr

KATHERINE KERR, Connector Room, was added to the Special Retirement List as of November 5, 1950.

Since coming to Scovill on June 6, 1918, Mrs. Kerr has been employed in various departments. At her retirement, she was a bench operator in the Connector Room.

Timothy Hanley

TIMOTHY HANLEY, Wire Mill, retired from active Scovill service on September 25, 1950.

Mr. Hanley has been a mill man throughout his forty-six years of continuous Company service. An employee of the Wire Mill, he served as a straightener operator.

The Company-Union Agreement

By this time you should have a printed copy of the Company-Union Agreement. Every employee in the bargaining unit and his supervisor should be thoroughly acquainted with its provisions. This Agreement and the Company's rules and regulations apply to every employee in the bargaining unit whether he is a Union member or not.

It is the Management's intention that the Agreement be administered fairly. Undoubtedly there will be disagreements as to the meaning of certain paragraphs. If so, there is provided arbitration to determine matters of interpretation of the Agreement.

There is some evidence that individuals who are newly appointed as stewards are getting off on the wrong foot. A steward has the right to represent employees in processing grievances. He has no rights in managing a department or in directing the activities of employees during working hours. Such rights rest solely with Management's representatives, foremen and supervisors.

It has been reported to me that stewards have been instructed to "needle" their supervisors. If this is so, it is unfortunate. Such tactics will not develop a pleasant relationship.

Each of us is employed to produce goods for sale or to service the productive departments. If we will all bear that in mind, we will get along in fine shape.

Learning to live under a new Agreement requires patience and understanding by all parties to it. After the first few days the Agreement will be better understood. So let's all keep our shirts on until we work out the rough spots of administration that are certain to develop. The grievance procedure and arbitration are provided as means for clarifying the Contract meaning. Let's use them rather than our tempers.

Thanksgiving

Let us give Thanks. Some of us might say: "For What?" War in Korea and troubled conditions throughout most of the world. And it appears to be true that war hysteria seems to be growing. However, we still have much to be thankful for.

We can be thankful that we live in a free country, that we can speak our minds freely, that we can worship as we wish, vote as we wish.

We can give thanks that our great country has the greatest fighting force in the world and has proved it many times.

We can give thanks that our country is a land of plenty and a land of Opportunity.

So, on the coming Thanksgiving, let us offer up our prayers and give thanks for living in a free country.

Life Out East

By Harry Shewbridge

What's in a name? Ask EUGENIE PARENT. She changed hers to SAMELA on Nov. 4, when she changed her status from Miss to Missus and left for a week's honeymoon in the Adirondacks. Good luck in your big adventure, GENE.

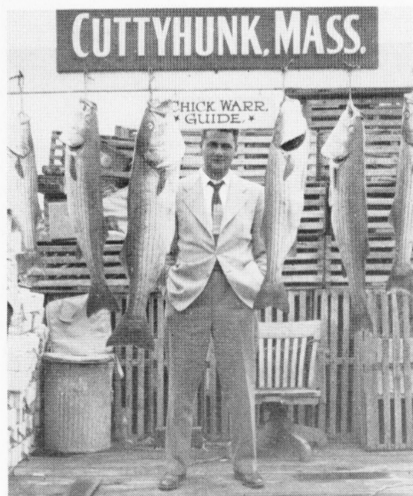

Seems to me I heard of a get-together one noon hour in Chucking to wish BARBARA CHIPMAN the best of everything in the sea of matrimony. BARBARA married PAUL LAURENZI of Casting on Nov. 11. The month of November sure brings out the best of intentions in people, doesn't it!

And while we're talking about Chucking, let's say adieu to MARY PETRUCCI who has moved up the ladder to become one of the CTO "Do-All" girls. We will surely miss "PATOOTS" and that ray of sunshine she wore in her smile. Come out and see us once in a while, MARY.

Some of us are working so hard these days that we are beginning to imagine things. Take CHARLIE ANCYPPA of Cleaning for instance. The other night, he dreamed he was fishing and pulled up 3 fish, all on the same hook, at the same time. My advice is, consult Dr. Barnes for a check-up.

Incidentally, Planning has been fortunate in obtaining the services of LEO BELLIVEAU. LEO graduated from Chucking, worked for his Master's Degree in Estimating, and will now participate as a full time member of the EPD faculty. It's nice having him with us.

And finally, the mystery of the phantom fisherman is solved. Below is proof of a prize catch by a prize fisherman. Here are the statistics: The fisherman, of course, is RAY LANEVILLE. The fish are Striped Bass. He did not catch all of them, but he did catch the two biggest ones (he says). The one on RAY's right weighs 33½ lbs., the one on his left weighs 20 lbs. Next year he's going back for a week to catch real big ones.

Rod Mill Topics

By Dom Polo

Two more of our men are sporting gold service pins. EGIDE DUMONT and DARWIN WEEKS passed the 25-year mark last month. Nice going!

It's a good thing there's one boy in RED CRICHTON's family or he'd be absolutely surrounded by the fairer sex. The CRICHTONS were blessed with another daughter recently, making a total of six girls. Congratulations!

It's nice to see JIMMY JOHNSON back from his vacation. JIMMY spent two weeks in his home town, Clayton, North Carolina.

"SHORTY" BARJAM had an operation recently. Here's hoping you're well on the road to recovery and that you'll be back with us soon, SHORTY.

HAROLD JONES is back to work. He had a quick trip to Penn. when he received word that his father was rushed to the hospital. We're all happy to hear that your father wasn't as seriously ill as first believed, HAROLD.

The beautiful tan MR. O'CONNELL has been acquired in Miami during his vacation. Heard he also got in some golf practice for next year's tourney!

ED TURNER, who has been recuperating in Maine after an injury, dropped in to say hello to the boys. Hope to see you back with us soon, ED.

We're all proud of ourselves in the Rod Mill as we had 100% participation in Federated Funds.

Condenser Tubes

At the Scovill booth, a silver curtain background will be set up with special colored lights playing on it constantly to depict the color range of our Condenser Tube Alloys.

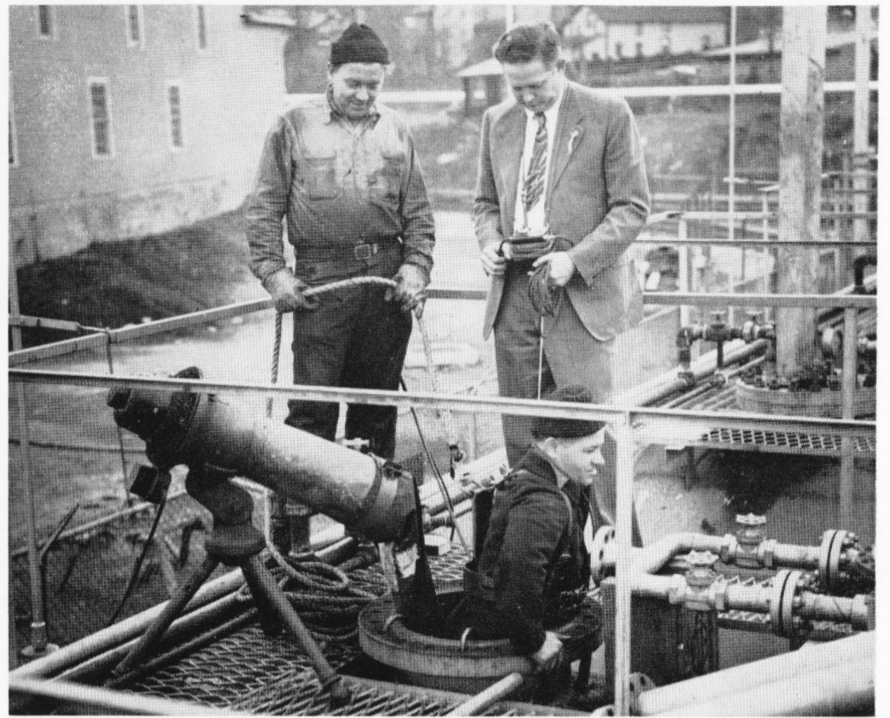

The main feature of our exhibit will be a glass model liquid-to-liquid heat exchanger which has been designed and developed by Maurice Presley of Metals Research, Ken Howell of Mill Sales, and the Corning Glass Works of Corning, New York.

A slow motion colored moving picture film, developed by Messrs. J. B. Goss, Armand and Lucien Wolff of Planning is also featured.

Since practically all heat exchangers are made of metal, the action of fluid flow in such metal units is not visible. We believe that, for the first time in the industry, the actual patterns of fluid flow are demonstrated visibly—within this glass model heat exchanger.

This special glass model reveals, through the use of colored liquids, how they pass through or around the tubes. It also shows how velocity, turbulence, air entrainment and obstructions affect fluid flow.

Making A Tank Safe To Work In

Bill Little holds the life line attached to Andrew Greenwood as Andy lowers himself into the large propane gas tank which is to be cleaned. Harry Grover, of the Safety Department, stands by to test the air for gas and to tend the life lines while the two Pipe Shop men are in the tank.

Most jobs require some thinking about safety before work is done. One job requiring much preparation is the cleaning of propane gas tanks. In addition to life lines and Explosimeter tests, the air in the tank must be made breathable. This is done by the use of a blower which can be seen in the picture above. Also, electrical equipment and some tools are specially made for safety in this work.

Almost every job has a hazard. By discovering the hazards and controlling them, work can be done safely.

Find the hazards in your work and learn to control them. If there is a hazard you can't manage, talk it over with your foreman or supervisor now. You can do more than anyone else to prevent an accident to yourself.

Q:—How may a new employee enroll himself and his family?

A:—Where a Blue Cross group is already in existence, a new employee may enroll individually, provided he does so within 60 days of the date hired. If he does not exercise this 60-day option, he must wait until his company forms an additional Blue Cross group.

Q:—When do I qualify for Maternity Benefits?

A: To receive Maternity Benefits, husband and wife must both be members for 8 months, either separately on individual contracts or together on one husband and wife contract. All other benefits start on the first day of membership.
