Contract Negotiations

We have held 42 negotiating meetings. Progress is being made. Much is still to be accomplished. However, the Company believes that most problems can be resolved by face-to-face talk if both parties really want to reach agreement.

A new complicating factor has entered the situation. The automobile companies have granted further wage increases even though their labor contracts were not open for negotiation. And so the inflationary spiral is given an added push upward.

The wage paid to auto workers has little connection with wages paid in the Naugatuck Valley. However, according to the public press there is to be an attempt to impose similar demands on local industry. Our wages since the base period 1935-1939 have increased far greater than has the cost of living.

The old merry-go-round of up wages-up prices, up prices-up wages is spinning merrily. Probably it will spin faster and faster until the present spree of buying regardless of price starts to slow down.

Then what? Do you suppose jobs will be on the increase? Or will they be fewer and fewer as buying declines? The answer is quite simple. Continual hiking of wages and prices will in the end dry up jobs.

Alan C. Curtiss
Vice-President

John Rollo Retires

JOHN ROLLO, Steam, was added to the Special Retirement List as of August 14, 1950.

First hired on June 8, 1916, Mr. Rollo worked intermittently until his continuous service record started in 1918. He has been with the Steam Department since 1919 and at his retirement was an ammonia compressor operator.

Standard Time

Daylight Saving Time will be discontinued officially at 2:00 a.m. on Sunday, September 24, 1950.

At about that hour, factory clocks will be turned back one hour to Eastern Standard Time. Outside clocks will be marked "E.S.T."

All plant schedules and appointments will be on Standard Time.

Scovill Girls' Club Stages Fashion Show

A new and different kind of fashion show was sponsored by the Scovill Girls' Club on Monday, September 11, at Doolittle Hall.

Nine Scovill girls were among those who modeled the latest in Mademoiselle clothes. A number of scenes were staged to show what "Susie Scovill" and her girl friends will be wearing during the coming seasons — from early morn, through the day, and into the evening. A narrator described the outfits the girls wore.

Door prize was won by Angela Lo Russo; all attending received souvenirs and refreshments. Sue Guarrera, Chairman of Entertainment, was in charge of the event.

Retired Folks Plan Winter Season

Approximately 35 members of the Retired Folks' Club met, on Tuesday, Sept. 12. Due to unfavorable weather, the scheduled picnic was cancelled and the meeting held in the SERA Clubhouse. George Hubbard was reelected Chairman for the coming year. A program of activities was discussed and plans for future meetings will include movies, lectures, card playing, etc.

Alfred Northrop Receives 50-Year Award

SERA Membership To Meet Sept. 25

A special meeting of the membership of the Scovill Employee Recreation Association will be held on Monday, September 25, 1950, according to notice issued by the Association's secretary, Ruth T. Osborne.

To be held in the SERA Clubhouse, 378 East Main Street, at 7:30 p.m., the meeting is being called for the purpose of discussing revision of the Constitution. Copies of the revision have been posted throughout the plant.

All employees are urged to attend this very important meeting.

"In Recognition"

The Manufacturers Association of Conn., Inc. recently paid tribute to member companies who have been in business in Connecticut over 50 years.

These companies were given "Certificates of Appreciation" at the Association's 135th annual dinner held in New Haven, on Tuesday, Sept. 12.

Vice-President Alan C. Curtiss accepted the "Certificate" on behalf of the Scovill Company — the fourth oldest company to be honored.

The Certificate states: "In Recognition of the Founders, Managers and Employees of this Company who have so fully contributed to the Economic and Social growth of their Community, the State of Connecticut and the United States of America for more than One Hundred Years — The Manufacturers Association of Connecticut, Inc. awards this Certificate of Appreciation to SCOVILL MANUFACTURING CO., Established in Connecticut 1802."

Federated Funds "This Is It!"

On October 12, the first Torch Drive of Federated Funds will be launched in our community.

Federated Funds was organized in answer to the wishes of community residents. With the number of charitable campaigns, and the expense and demands of such drives, increasing each year, everyone has been voicing with growing fervor, "Why can't something be done about them all?"

The united Torch Drive is the solution. Its overall purpose is to unite both national and local health and welfare agencies in just one annual campaign.

To date, all Red Feather agencies and many national agencies have affiliated with Federated Funds and will participate in the October Torch Drive. Negotiations are still underway with several national organizations and the complete list of Torch Drive members will be announced later.

This united plan is the kind which people in all walks of life have been clamoring for. That's one reason why Federated Funds has adopted as a slogan — "This is it!"

Mr. J. J. Hoben, Works Manager, Mills Division, has issued notice of the following appointment:

It's Your Federal Government

By ROBERT L. JOHNSON

President, Temple University, and Chairman Citizens Committee For The Hoover Report

No. 2—Progress and Promise

We have come a long way in the last year on the road to a "better government at a better price". You and I can be glad today that the bipartisan Hoover Commission's report came out when it did.

The Report showed us that one dollar in ten of federal funds (that's $100 a year for the average family) is lost, through duplication, overlapping and waste in the government.

It showed us how $4 billions a year could be saved while actually improving the government's service to the citizen. These findings were made by 300 research experts of the Commission's task forces which had made impartial and unemotional surveys of the different areas of government. Some of these extravagances resemble the work of children, or of some misguided, practical joker rather than that of responsible government officials.

For example:—this is the case of the $16,000,000 Alaskan army camp.

The Army was finished with it, dismantled it, and shipped the lumber, at great expense, to Seattle. It chanced that the Dept. of the Interior needed lumber for an installation of its own. The Interior Dept. bought the lumber from the Army, loaded it into ships and finally erected it in a camp ten miles from its original site in Alaska!

This country produced 85,000 tanks during the last war. At the end of that war the Army statistics showed that 25,000 of these were still on hand. But the Army actually could account for only 16,000 — leaving the fate of the other 9,000 a baffling question for the task force.

The average cost of a tank is $250,000.

The confused jumble of agencies called the Dept. of Agriculture once replied to a farmer who had asked for advice about fertilizer by sending him five different and conflicting pieces of "information" from five of its bureaus.

Most people have heard that the postal card which the Post Office sells and delivers for one cent actually costs the government two and one-half cents, or about $30,000,000 a year.

If these cards were used, as originally intended as "the poor man's letter", it might make sense. But the fact is that 85 per cent of them are used for business purposes.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs has one employee for every 32 of the 400,000 Indians which are its ward, and yet a large part of the Navajo nation, comprising about 55,000 Indians, is in such a state of finance that there is widespread malnutrition among them.

There are thousands of examples such as these.

Since the Commission's report was published, some 35 per cent of its recommendations have been enacted by Congress. As a result, we have:

1. Greatly improved unification of the armed services.
2. A reorganization of the State Department which clarifies lines of authority and saves money by streamlining its foreign service.
3. A saving of millions annually by the creation of the General Services Administration, which replaces the purchasing activities of four other agencies and unifies purchase, inventory and records management.
4. The Reorganization Act, under which President Truman submitted 34 plans for government reorganization, of which 26 have been accepted by Congress and only 8 rejected.

All told, at least $1.25 billions a year has been saved by the legislation already passed.

We have now coordinated budgeting which will prevent senseless duplication and, through the unification of the armed forces under the Tydings Act, we are entering this war with teamwork between the three branches of the military which in itself is of tremendous value.

So, you see, the Hoover Report has already justified itself. Yet we haven't even scratched the surface.

In subsequent articles, we will see the possibilities of greater savings and greater efficiency in government through the enactment of the recommendations of the Commission.

IRA Bocci Season Comes To A Close

The Bocci season came to an end with the last night of play on Friday, September 8.

The SERA team won second place honors in the first and second rounds. In the first round, Scovill was tied for first but was defeated by Chase in the playoff.

In the second round, Chase took Scovill in a close match in the final game of the season for the city championship.

"Certified Operators" Assure Safety

For many years Scovill has required special physical and operating tests for certain types of work where a physical defect or inexperience might lead to a serious accident. This precaution has proved its worth and many other industries now have similar arrangements.

Each year the men in these special occupations are re-examined. As they pass the tests which are required, they receive Certificates, shown at left.

These certificates are evidence of physical ability and knowledge of the job and, like motor vehicle licenses, are subject to cancellation in the event of serious negligence causing an accident.

"Certified" occupations are jobs where safe methods are important.

"Certified Operators" are men in these occupations who regularly have the safety of their fellow employees directly under their control and it is for this reason that these occupations receive special and regular attention.

An "Occupational Certificate" is issued to the men when they pass the special examinations required for certain types of work.

Among the "certified" occupations are these three pictured in the Casting Shop:—Lift Truck operator, Crane trailer, and Crane operator. Only "certified" men may operate Cranes, Lift Trucks, Jitneys, Motor Vehicles, Elevators, or engage in occupations such as Gas Annealers, Oilers, etc.

Information To Employees

We intend to inform employees of plant operations or of situations that affect employment, to the extent allowable under Government regulations and commercial commitments.

Reeves Competition

The second round of the 1950 SERA Fishing Contest was held at Woodtick on Saturday, September 9 with 18 employees participating. Everything in the book was tried but the fish did not cooperate.

Winners for that day are as follows:
 PERCH—R. Ladden, 10"; H. Strumpf, 10".
 PICKEREL—J. Littlejohn, 17".
 CALICO BASS—J. Delaney, 12³/₄";
 H. Strumpf, 10-7/16".
 BULLHEAD—J. Matulunas, 18¹/₂";
 H. Miller, 16³/₈"; J. Coffey, 15⁵/₈".
 TROUT—R. Ladden, 11¹/₂".

Some of the fishermen wonder if that bait FRED EHRHARDT had was responsible for scaring the fish away. You should have measured some of them at the finish, FREDDY.

The third round will be held on Saturday, September 23.

ED MEAFSKI had a nice catch of Snapper Blues recently. Ask ED for the secret.

We're waiting to hear the results on TOM LYNCH'S deep sea fishing trip. Wonder if he got lost in the fog!

Life Out East

By Harry Shewbridge

With your kind permission, I would like to indulge in some baby talk. Those of you who knew WALLY STOVEKEN of ASMD will be pleased to learn that his wife gave birth to a baby boy on August 31. The STOVEKENS were married on August 31, 1944. My very best to the second WALTER.

MARY RENNA, who is on leave of absence from the Planning Department, presented husband DICK of Slide Fastener Tool their second son. Born on Thurs., Aug. 31 at 5 p.m., Jeffrey Robert weighed in at 7¹/₂ lbs. Whatever he may become, I'll bet it won't be a toolmaker or time study engineer.

And just because all good things come in threes, HANK JANKOWSKI of Chucking Tool, by virtue of a baby boy born September 6, became indebted to DAN NARDOZZI to the tune of a carton of cigarettes. To hear DAN tell it, you'd think HE had the baby!

For nigh on three years now, I've been the "Big Kidney" around these parts. However, on August 29, I relinquished my title to FELIX GROCHOWSKI of ASMD when they removed a kidney stone from him about the size of a watermelon (or am I exaggerating?). FELIX had a rough time of it at first, but by now he is getting along fine and hopes to be back at work soon. FELIX and I now agree that you can get kidney stones whether you eat Irish or Polish food.

To wind up this week's news with another whiff of ether is the story of MARY LOUISE PETRUCCI, everybody's favorite in the Chucking Department. MARY was rushed to St. Mary's the day after Labor Day with acute appendicitis. Proving to be as difficult with the doctor as she is with me, she required two hours on the operating table. They say that when they finally found her appendix, MARY was heard to mutter, "Well, how do you like that!" Now that it is all over with, they tell me they're having a tough time keeping her on her back. God be with you, MARY, and God help your nurses!

Model Association

A contest of stunt, speed and novelty flying was scheduled to be held at Woodtick on September 17. Movies of the day's activities were to be taken.

New members are invited to join the Club. All interested employees should contact Willis Pond, General Training Room #1.

We hear DAVE MORELAND is carrying a torch these days. He's been appointed chairman of "Torch Week", a project of Federated Funds, which will be conducted in early October.
