Controls

We are moving rapidly toward a controlled economy. As of January 25, 1951, wages, salaries and prices were frozen. These freeze orders were admittedly stop-gap. They will be modified and implemented after the Wage Stabilization Board drafts its policies. We anticipate that the Company's wage and salary administration policies will meet the requirements of any Government stabilization orders. They did in the last war. So, let's keep our shirts on till we see just what these stabilization policies will be.

The fact that the freeze was considered necessary indicates how serious our situation is considered by those in charge of our economy. These orders are intended to stop inflation. Other methods of fighting inflation, such as increased taxes, are also in the offing. While these controls are not pleasant to take, the alternative of possible runaway inflation would be far worse in its effect on each of us.

As we have stated above, we believe our procedures for granting legitimate merit increases, for promotion and for transfer will meet the requirements for stabilization of wages. So, while we must sit tight for the moment, we should know how we stand in a few days. We must be patient until we know and understand just what is expected of us.

Five Retirements

EDNA FITZPATRICK, Mill Production, retired from active Scovill service on January 1, 1951.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick first came to Scovill in 1915 and worked intermittently until 1917 when her continuous service record started. Most of her years here were spent in the Wire Mill Office. She was transferred to Mill Production in 1942.

DONATO SUMMA, Casting Shop, was added to the Special Retirement List as of January 11, 1951.

Mr. Summa was hired in 1913 and has a continuous service record since 1918. He has always been in the Casting Shop, where most of his years were spent as a crane trailer.

FRANK CHAPDELAIN, Sanitation, retired from active service on January 16, 1951.

Mr. Chapdelaine came to Scovill on September 9, 1925. Throughout his years here, he was employed in Sanitation as a maintenance man.

ANTONIO DELOIA, Dip Room, has been placed on the Special Retirement List as of January 17, 1951.

First coming to Scovill in 1918, Mr. Deloia worked intermittently in several departments until 1924, when his continuous service record started. Except for a short time in Annealing, he has been in Dip Room as a drier and pan washing machine operator.

HELEN YANCZARSKA, Lipstick, has been placed on the Special Retirement List.

Mrs. Yanczarska was hired in 1920, and has a continuous service record from July 21, 1924. Since 1931, she has been an adjuster in Lipstick. Other departments in which she has been employed are Assembling #3, Etching and Tire Valve.

New Assignments

Engineering Division

Mr. T. W. Colina, Chief Maintenance Engineer, has issued notice of the following appointment:—

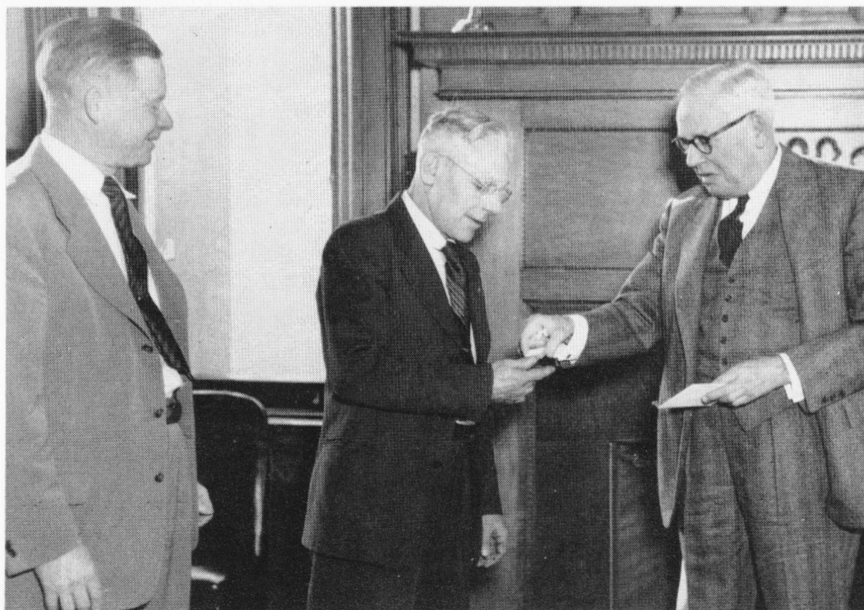

Effective January 15, 1951, Harold Donahue has been appointed Foreman of the Welding Shop. He will report to General Foreman A. S. Carignan.

Manufacturing Division

The following notice has been received from Mr. H. W. Wild, Vice-President in charge of Manufacturing:

Effective January 15, 1951, Daniel O'Neil has been appointed Foreman of the Multiple Spindle Section in Dept. #88. He will report to General Foreman W. F. Sutton.

Edward Scovill Receives 40 - Year Award

Edward S. Scovill, Milling & Grinding, receives his 40-year gold pin with a diamond from President L. P. Sperry. Tool & Development Superintendent Willis H. Machin was also on hand to offer his congratulations and best wishes. Mr. Scovill completed 40 years of continuous Company service on January 9.

Western Theme Wins Prize For Display

The use of GRIPPER Zippers and GRIPPER Fasteners on boys' western clothes was demonstrated in the above display which was the Scovill exhibit at the Boys Apparel Buyers' Association convention held at the Hotel Astor recently. The exhibit was one of five to receive Certificates of Award as best carrying out the theme of the convention "Salesmanship is Showmanship".

4th Annual Golf Clinic

The annual golf clinic will be held at Doolittle Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 20. Frank Paul, a well-known Watertown pro, will talk on the fundamentals of the game, give demonstrations and carry on a discussion period.

The formal program will get underway at 8:00 o'clock with golf movies and other sports films. Mr. Paul will then use the net and demonstrate the use of different clubs.

Tickets can be obtained from committee members throughout the plant, or by calling ext. 834. Jim Brislin (Mill Prod.) and Ed Sabis (Casting Shop) are co-chairmen of the affair.

The large GRIPPER Fastener (right center) was made of plaster. It was kept moving constantly by a motorized unit which gave the effect that the bronco was actually bucking.

Scovill Employees Set Blood Donations Record

In the city's drive for blood donations, January 12th and 22nd were designated as "Scovill Days". Our employees are to be highly complimented for their splendid cooperation; 425 Main Plant employees volunteered to contribute on those days.

Our quota for each day was 120 units. A record was set for the city on Friday, January 12, when 140 units of blood were contributed. Appointments had been made for 172 employees but, for various reasons, some were rejected until a later date.

While our quota for January 22nd was not met, 110 units were contributed. This was not the fault of Scovill employees as more than enough were on hand, but some were rejected for physical conditions which they were not aware of previously.

There are still 85 registrants from departments contacted who have not been scheduled but are being held for a later date.

Bowling Sweepstakes

The 7th annual SERA bowling tournament will be held on February 24, at Sena's Recreation Center.

Entry blanks are being distributed to the secretaries of all established Main Plant, Waterville Div. and Oakville Div. bowling leagues and all planning to participate are asked to get their entries in early.

Jean Ostroski and Don MacIntosh are co-chairmen in charge of the event.

Eight Hints On Your Income Tax

(This article is based on material furnished by the American Institute of Accountants, national professional society of certified public accountants.)

1. Choose the Right Form

Most wage earners will file the simplified form (1040-A) or a short form 1040. However, many could save money by itemizing deductions on the long form 1040, instead of using the simplified form without thinking and taking the "standard deduction" of ten per cent of their income.

Check your deductions carefully. If they amount to more than ten per cent of your income, be sure to use a long form if you want to claim them.

2. Joint Returns

If married, you can nearly always save money by filing a joint return.

You do this by totalling the income you and your wife receive (even if she has no income of her own) on one tax return which both of you sign. You can file a joint return with your wife as long as you were married and living together the last day of the year, or if your wife died during the year.

The government calls this "splitting your income". Whether it will definitely reduce your tax depends mainly on the size of your income and the number of dependents and exemptions you have. For example, a man with $4,000 income and no dependents could save $10 by filing a joint return with his wife, (assuming she had no income) instead of an individual form.

3. Take All Legal Exemptions

You have one $600 exemption for yourself. In addition, you normally have a $600 exemption for anyone closely related to you by blood or marriage if you contributed more than fifty per cent of his upkeep and his taxable income is less than $500.

A child born any time during the year (even at 11:59 p.m. on Dec. 31) entitles you to a full year's exemption. The same is true for an infant who dies after birth.

4. Special Exemptions

If you are 65 or over, you get an extra exemption of $600. If your wife is 65 or over, she has the same extra exemption when you file a joint return.

There is a similar extra exemption for the blind and the partially blind. The rule is explained on the tax return instructions.

5. Health, Medical Deductions

If you had any unexpected medical expenses last year, you should see whether you have an allowable medical deduction. You can deduct medical expenses which exceed five per cent of your adjusted gross income, up to certain limits. (Instructions with the tax forms explain this.)

Many people do not know about the variety of deductible medical expenses. Typical ones include: health and hospitalization insurance premiums, hospital, nurse, dentist and doctor bills not offset by insurance, cost of drugs, eyeglasses, dentures, crutches, wheelchairs, other medical equipment.

6. Deductions for Home Owners

If you own your own home, you have a variety of deductions you may not have thought about. The interest on your mortgage is deductible. So are real estate and property taxes and assessments, casualty losses, interest on home repair loans. Interest on all loans you have is deductible.

Because of the eastern hurricane, the heavy midwestern storms, and the west coast floods last year, casualty losses were more common than usual. If your house was damaged by wind, snow or water, and you weren't completely covered by insurance for your loss, you may deduct the net loss from your taxable income. Be sure you can reasonably support the claim you make.

7. Some Unusual Deductions

Many expenses you have in your work are deductible. Examples: union dues and assessments, fee paid to an agency to secure a job, cost of uniform or tools you buy which are necessary in your job.

You may also deduct personal bad debts up to $1,000. However, you can't deduct net gambling losses—although you pay tax on net winnings.

8. Personal Records

When you take a long list of deductions, there's one thing the certified public accountants warn you should be sure of: that you can reasonably substantiate them. Keep receipts and checks on your doctor and hospital bills, or on other deductible expenses. The government spot-checks income tax returns, and you can't take a chance on not being able to support your deduction claims.

"... that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

No. 3 - - What About Blast, And Burns?

Protect Yourself From Blast

Even if you have only a second's warning, there is one important thing you can do to lessen your chances of injury:—Fall flat on your face.

More than half of all wounds are the result of being bodily tossed about or being struck by falling and flying objects. If you lie down flat, you are least likely to be thrown about. If you have time to pick a good spot, there is less chance of your being struck by flying glass and other things.

If you are inside a building:—

the best place to flatten out is close against the cellar wall. If you haven't time to get down there, lie down along an inside wall, or duck under a bed or table. But, don't pick a spot right opposite the windows or you are almost sure to be pelted with shattered glass.

If caught out-of-doors:—

either drop down alongside the base of a good substantial building (avoid flimsy, wooden ones likely to be blown over on top of you) or else jump in any handy ditch or gutter.

Shield Yourself Against Flash

To escape temporary blindness, bury your face in your arms.

When you fall flat to protect yourself from a bombing, don't look up to see what's coming. Even during daylight hours, the flash from a bursting A-bomb can cause several moments of blindness, if you're facing that way.

To prevent it, bury your face in your arms and hold it there for 10 or 12 seconds after the explosion. That will also help to keep flying glass and other things out of your eyes.

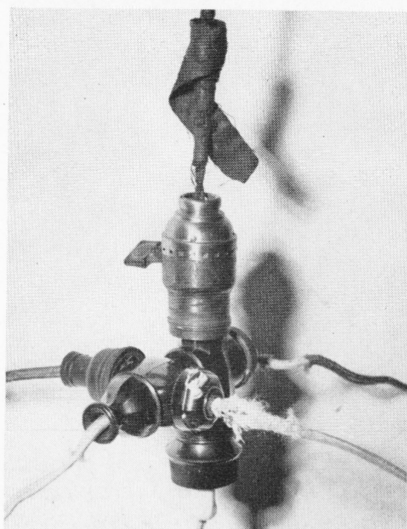

Flash burns from the A-bomb's light and heat caused about 30 percent of the injuries at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Near the center of the burst the burns are often fatal. People may be seriously burned more than a mile away, while the heat can be felt on the bare face and hands at 4 or 5 miles.

To prevent flash burns, try to find a shelter where there is a wall, a high bank or some other object between you and the bursting bomb. You can expect that the bomber will aim for the city's biggest collection of industrial buildings.

A little bit of solid material will provide flash protection even close to the explosion. Farther out, the thinnest sort of thing — even cotton cloth — will often do the trick.

If you work in the open, always wear full-length, loose-fitting, light-colored clothes in time of emergency. Never go around with your sleeves rolled up. Always wear a hat—the brim may save you a serious face burn.

Electricity - No. 2 Cause Of Fire

You know the picture at the left has been posed — surely no one in his right mind would dream of allowing such a condition to exist!

Yes, it was posed but it is no joke. Fires start every day in homes and shops from overloaded, defective wiring such as this. When they do, the person who cobbled up a mess like this is responsible for the loss of life or property which may result.

In your home, or in the plant — don't overload electric outlets.

Watch the wires in your area and report any you think are defective or loose. Look over those in your home — tonight.

Protect yourself by eliminating the No. 2 cause of fire.

Now that JIM LAWLOR and SADIK BARJAM have been awarded their service pins, they are members of the 25-year club. Congratulations!

Our deepest sympathy to GEORGE SIRA who lost his father recently.
