Published by Scovill Manufacturing Company for its Employees

HIS IDEA MAY BE WORTH $2,000. Renaud LaChance (center) receives check for $240. from President Malcolm Baldrige as initial payment on what could be the largest award to be estimated, to date, on suggestions submitted. Looking on are Tool Supt. (West Plant) George Chase, Gen. Mfg. Div. General Manager C. A. Burnett, and Operations Manager W. H. Machin.

Ideas Can — And Do — Pay Off

One Idea May Net $2,000

$2,000—that is the amount estimated as the possible total award which Renaud LaChance, of General Manufacturing Tool, could receive on a single suggestion passed along to Management through the Suggestion System.

Mr. LaChance was given an initial award of $240. on his suggestion to revise the tooling in an assembly operation of the "A" fuze which has resulted in a reduction in cost as well as a reduction in rejected parts.

This initial award was based only on the savings expected to be realized for the balance of the present contract. If it is utilized for the new fuze "A" contract, his winnings could total over $2,000.

$40.00—Anthony Massarelli, Cosmetic Container Div.

Mr. Massarelli suggested a change in the type of buffing chuck used for finishing a particular lipstick component which resulted in a reduction in the maintenance cost of chucks.

$25.00—Anthony Massarelli, Cosmetic Container Div.

A second suggestion by Mr. Massarelli proposed a revision in the technique of buffing a particular item to produce a better quality finish.

$25.00—Joseph Lombardo, Welding Dept.

Mr. Lombardo devised and installed a fixture at the heavy duty slitter to extract bars when necessary. Formerly, bolt cutters were used for prying the bar free and these cutters were frequently broken in the process.

$25.00—Robert Fumire, Closure Finishing Lab

Mr. Fumire suggested a means of salvaging paint which, previously, was lost through evaporation of the solvent.

$15.00 Robert Zabit, Sr., Cosmetic Container Div.

Mr. Zabit proposed the use of a pump in transferring liquid rouge from its container rather than the former hand-dipping method.

$10.00—Alfred Smith, Rod Mill

Mr. Smith suggested a change in the design of a machine part which facilitates its removal and replacement during set-ups and change-overs.

Stock Contest Winners Announced

Persistence pays off again. Two participants who won honorable mention in our first "Win-A-Share-of-Stock" contest tried again in our second contest—and won. The two new Scovill stockholders are Alan Russell and Rebecca Forlaw.

Alan, who is 15 and attends Wolcott High School, is the son of Vernon Russell of the Closure Division in Waterbury. Rebecca, who is also 15 and attends Bushwick High School in Brooklyn, New York, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph N. Forlaw, both of whom work at our A. Schrader's Son Division in Brooklyn, New York. Her grandfather, Samuel H. Forlaw, is also a Schrader employee, he recently received his 25-year pin.

Hamilton Beach Shows New Items

Scovill's Hamilton Beach Division believes in starting off the new year with a bang! At a sales conference held in Chicago during the second week of January, sales personnel from all parts of the country were briefed on plans for the year and were introduced to the new products and promotional material made available to get more Hamilton Beach appliances into the hands of more customers.

At the National Housewares Show held in Chicago the following week, thirteen new Hamilton Beach products were introduced to the trade. Because of the approximately 40,000 dealers and wholesalers attending this show, it has become a show case for everything

Attracting New Taxpayers

As Waterbury's largest taxpayer, we are naturally concerned whenever increases in the local tax rate are proposed. Like many individual taxpayers, we don't welcome added costs — — it's rough enough as it is! Taxes are an important cost in our business. Last year, our Waterbury tax bill was $1,237,567. The 1¼ mill increase already approved for this year will add about $33,000 to this bill. The proposed 1¾ mill special tax would add another $47,000.

There are compelling reasons for this special tax.

Waterbury is competing with other communities throughout the country in attracting new industry and in retaining that which we have. The local tax levy is an important factor in this competition.

But there are other considerations. Ask the people in our community who are working hard to attract new industry. They will tell you that, before locating here, a businessman wants to know all about us — — our industrial sites, our skilled labor supply, our highways, our residential areas and recreational facilities, our community services and cultural activities — — and our schools!

This matter of schools is of particular importance. All of the recent controversy and publicity concerning local educational problems is giving our city a reputation that will repel rather than attract new taxpayers. Would you move into a city in the midst of turmoil? Any deficiencies in our educational facilities should be remedied.

As a responsible corporate citizen, Scovill is willing to bear its share of whatever must be done to brighten the reputation of our schools and of our community. The proposed special tax is a step in the right direction and it has our full support.

Conn. Sales Tax Deduction Guide

If you itemize your deductions in preparing your 1963 Income Tax statements, the following 1963 State (Connecticut) tax rates should be used in computing the amount of your deductions:

Gasoline Tax—6¢ per gallon

Cigarette Tax—6¢ per pack beginning July 1, 1963; before then—5¢

Sales and Use Tax—3½%

The following table has been published by the Internal Revenue Service as a "reasonable allowance" for sales and use tax. The District Director stated that the table is intended to reflect sales taxes paid on large purchases such as automobile and large household appliances.

Income as shown on line 9, page 1, form 1040—and the sales tax payment allowed are:—

Under $1,000 .....	$ 10
$1,000 under $1,500 .....	19
$1,500 under $2,000 .....	24
$2,000 under $2,500 .....	31
$2,500 under $3,000 .....	37
$3,000 under $3,500 .....	43
$3,500 under $4,000 .....	49
$4,000 under $4,500 .....	56
$4,500 under $5,000 .....	62
$5,000 under $5,500 .....	68
$5,500 under $6,000 .....	73
$6,000 under $6,500 .....	79
$6,500 under $7,000 .....	85
$7,000 under $7,500 .....	90
$7,500 under $8,000 .....	96
$8,000 under $8,500 .....	102
$8,500 under $9,000 .....	108
$9,000 under $9,500 .....	113
$9,500 under $10,000 .....	118
$10,000 under $11,000 .....	125
$11,000 under $12,000 .....	134
$12,000 under $13,000 .....	142
$13,000 under $14,000 .....	150
$14,000 under $15,000 .....	159
$15,000 under $16,000 .....	167
$16,000 under $17,000 .....	174
$17,000 under $18,000 .....	181
$18,000 under $19,000 .....	187
$19,000 under $20,000 .....	192

The director also states that the law on deductions requires taxpayers to substantiate any amounts claimed on their returns and, if requested, the taxpayer must be prepared to do so. However, taxpayers ordinarily will not be asked to produce records to support sales tax deductions unless the amount listed exceeds the amount shown for their income bracket in the table.

The two contest winners wrote on a topic that is much in the news today—"The Effect of Proposed Tax Reduction on Our Economy". Both participants showed a keen grasp of the factors prompting the proposed tax reduction.

The following excerpts from Alan Russell's letter is a good example:

"Paying less taxes would enable them (individual taxpayers) to have more money. This money could be spent, invested, or saved. If spent, the increased flow of money into stores and businesses would lead to expansion of these businesses so they could handle the increased volume of business. New jobs would result, both in the businesses and the firms that supply them. Money invested in businesses and industries would enable them to expand. Dividends returned to the investors could be spent, saved, or reinvested, and since money saved is actually invested in a savings institution, the same would apply there.

"What is the effect of a tax reduction on our economy? On the whole we come to see that it brings more new in the household field. Hamilton Beach sales personnel were well pleased with the enthusiasm with which their products were accepted.

Among the products Hamilton Beach introduced at this Chicago show were the new hair dryers, warming tray, and steam irons, recently acquired from Casco Products Corporation. The new electric toothbrush also acquired from Casco is now being redesigned and will be available for distribution shortly.

The two hair dryers featured at the Show are called My Fair Lady and Summer Breeze. My Fair Lady features a built-in power manicurist set and nail dryer. It has a bonnet to accommodate bouffant curlers and a large mirror built into the cover. The Summer Breeze hair dryer also includes a nail dryer and a vanity mirror.

The automatic electric warming tray is decorator designed and features a three-heat temperature control.

jobs, increased business, and new products, which makes for a better and more vigorous economy."

Rebecca Forlaw had this to say about tax reduction—"A tax reduction for the people would mean more and better products for their leisure. Also . . . more money for private consumption and investment . . . It would help industry in that this cut could be used as a profit to build more factories and employ more workers."

Rebecca also realized that federal expenditures would have to be curtailed, stating, "If the tax reduction plan went through, the government would have to cut down on its many expenditures . . ." She concluded by stating, "The nation cannot go on raising taxes without a risk of injuring industries which produce for private consumers."

Rod & Gun Club

By Mike Cicchetti

Anthony Greene was certainly the star of the ice fishing contest held at Lyman's pond on Sunday, January 5th. Wives and guests joined members in the event, but Tony was the only one to register prize winning fish: a 12¾" perch and a 12½" calico bass. Congratulations, Tony!

The annual report as given by President Harold Rogers at the annual meeting showed a planned activity for each month, excluding July. Each one was well attended and he attributed their success to the fine planning and hard work of the chairmen in charge of each specific event.

During 1963, 1200 trout were put into the lake—750 into the swimming area and 450 into the upper reservoir; also 4,000 bass fry, and 8500 shiners. Plans for 1964 include $400 for restocking, $100 for fertilizing and $50 for children's activities.

President Rogers also announced his committees for 1964:—

Ways and Means Committee—Ray Curtis, chairman

Banquet Committee—Fred Kirschbaum, John Capone, James Quirk

Auditing Committee—Robert Brinley, James Quirk

Nominating Committee — Vincent LoCurto, Ray Curtis, Louis Quattrocchi

Membership Committee — Domenic Cherubini, chairman

Fishing Committee—Chairman Bob Fumire, Harold Rogers, Fred Wilson, Louis Quattrocchi, Fred Kirschbaum

From the response to date, it won't be long before the Rifle half of the Club will be in action. The committee is already at work investigating possibilities for an indoor range and, as soon as one is available, shooting will start. If you're interested and haven't already submitted your name be sure to contact any one of the Committee members soon.

Scovill Medical Dept. Celebrates 50th Anniversary

The opening of the first official hospital in Scovill in January, 1914, was a welcome event to the more than 2,000 employees. An article in the May, 1915, issue of the S.F.A. News, reporting on the hospital's first-year activities, states: "no longer need an injured man lie a half hour perhaps bleeding and suffering on the factory floor until someone could hunt up a doctor."

This first hospital boasted of a waiting room, clinic, operating and "rest" rooms. A trained nurse was always on hand to apply immediate first aid. The late Dr. N. A. Pomeroy was available on a part-time basis, but on call for an emergency or advanced medical treatment.

The Clinic—1914. Headed by the late Dr. Nelson A. Pomeroy, physician and surgeon who worked part-time in the hospital but was always on call, the hospital staff was made up of two nurses, Nora A. O'Brien and Jessie Dingwell, a male attendant (identity unknown), and a recording clerk, George S. Hubbard. Treatment of accident cases was the major service called for.

Main Hospital—1914 to 1955. Located on Hayden St., this building provided first aid for major and minor injury cases for all employees. It boasted of a waiting room, clinic, operating and "rest room".

It was demolished in 1955 when the hospital moved into its present location on the first floor of the new Employee Relations Building. Here the most modern facilities, with the latest in equipment and talent, are available to treat any emergency or health needs of employees in the Waterbury divisions.

While employees in the Waterville Foundry, New Milford and Oakville divisions do have hospital facilities, some cases are also referred to the Main Hospital.

Records show that during the first year, 4800 major and minor accident cases were treated. Most of the minor injuries were treated with iodine only and the major problem was educating employees to seek treatment promptly and to teach the value of cleanliness.

Today, the Main Hospital includes examination rooms, a special treatment table designed by Medical Director Dr. Butler, emergency room, X-ray room, operating and recovery rooms, physical therapy rooms and laboratory. Additional hospital facilities are located in the East Plant, New Milford, Waterville Foundry and Oakville Division to serve employees in those plants.

The Clinic—1964. Under the direction of Medical Director Dr. Robert W. Butler, today's staff includes 7 nurses, 1 physical therapist, 1 trained male attendant and X-ray technician, 1 safety equipment specialist and driver, and 2 office staff members. While treatment of accident cases is extremely important, the major present day emphasis is on preventive measures.

East Hospital—1916 to 1947. This one and one-half story building served the medical needs of employees "out east" for more than 30 years.

In May, 1947, on deciding to do away with the building, the Company offered it as a source of building material to interested employees. Because of the numerous calls of employees who had been battling the lumber and material shortage at that time, bids were opened for the purchase, demolition and removal of the building. The successful bidder was Philip Gaudiosi, Blacksmith Shop.

Earlier that month, the hospital had moved to its new modern quarters in Bldg. 146, adjacent to the Aluminum and Rod Mills, with a nurse in constant attendance.
